Prayer:*One With The Suffering People Of Syria

God of Mercy, hear the cries of your people. How long, O God, must our Syrian sisters and brothers suffer injustice? How long must they be casualties of hollow wars?

With heavy hearts, we watch the aftermath of the chemical attack in Khan Sheikhoun in northern Syria.

With numbing grief, we learn of scores of people, including children, who died after plumes of toxic gas fell upon them, like a “winter fog”—many convulsing, choking, gasping for air, and foaming at the mouth.

They are not numbers, but names, members of a family, our human family. They are mothers, fathers, sons, daughters, and grandparents.

They are the face of your Son—crying out, “My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?” (Matthew 27:46)

Give comfort to the father who carried his lifeless little girl, her lips blue, her dark curls brushing closed eyes, wrapped in a blue sheet.

Give comfort to the mothers and fathers as they lay to rest their children in makeshift burial sites.

Give comfort to those who helplessly watched as family members and neighbors fell like leaves to the ground, gasping for air, struggling to breathe, pleading for help.

Give comfort to the doctors, nurses, and rescue workers as they provide care and treatment to those who survived the attack.

Give comfort to those who live in perpetual fear, to those who are internally displaced, and to those who have fled to neighboring countries as war refugees.

Give strength to those who are making a desperate attempt to reach Europe by land or sea, with many dying tragically along the way.

God, as shocking as this unacceptable massacre is, it is but one episode in the long nightmare of Syria’s civil conflict. It is time that the international community stands up and says, “Enough.”

We join with Pope Francis and “appeal to the conscience of those who have political responsibilities, locally, and internationally, to put an end to this tragedy and to bring relief to that dear population which for too long has been overwhelmed by war.” Amen.

Earth Day Prayer, 2017

Earth Day 2017 has as its theme, “Environmental and Climate Literacy,” which calls is to a thoughtful study of environmental issues so that we may act with discernment to defend God’s Creation. This is very much in keeping with Pope Francis’ call in Laudato Si’ and his recent declarations, calling us to a deeper understanding of the environment, both in terms of theological and scientific concerns. The following prayer includes quotations from Pope Francis.

We listen to the words of our Pope as we pray to respect God’s Creation and to reflect deeply on the environmental issues we must face, so we can play our role in the healing of the Earth, so we can comprehend in our deepest being that “everything is connected.”

We are called to recognize the earth “is a garden to be cultivated,” as we are all gardeners needing to touch the soil, the “source of life,” and to experience the mystery of growing things, God’s sacred gifts. In this way, we celebrate our connections with all living things.

We are called to respect and understand biodiversity, “which gives glory to God” by its existence, and to reject any tendency “to be indifferent or resigned” to its loss, and not to turn away from the destruction of ecosystems” that gird Creation.

We are called to renounce “infinite, unlimited growth,” realizing that the earth’s resources are limited and that we must share our “common home” with all other members of the human family, and with the generations to come after us.

We are called to experience, with mind and heart and soul, that “all is communion” through an “ecological conversion,” that we are all necessary to play a passionately informed role As we embrace “our responsibility to ourselves, our neighbors, Creation, and the Creator.” Amen.

Our Easter Season

We got off to a wonderful start with the morning Liturgies of Holy Week and Easter. Thank you to Ed Savo, the choir, those who assisted in cleaning and decorating the church, Lectors, Eucharistic Ministers, Altar Servers and all those who had their feet washed. A number of people behind the scenes did much to help with getting things in order for the celebrations. Know my heartfelt gratitude for the generosity of your time and energy.

Many people (especially visitors) expressed positive comments as they were leaving the various Liturgies. All of you truly made it a “Day the Lord has made.”

—Fr. Tim Taugher

Question of the Week

Question for Children: Even though you can't see him with your eyes, how do you "see" Jesus in others?

Question for Youth: Jesus gave us the gift of the Holy Spirit and gave us the power to forgive sins. How do you offer forgiveness to your friends and family? How do you seek forgiveness for yourself?

Question for Adults: When and how do you experience the "new birth" which we are given in Christ? When someone has forgiven you? When you have forgiven others? When you celebration reconciliation? At other times?
